STRIKING IOWA FARMERS PLAN PARADE OCT. 4th

Will Gather In Capital Same Day President Hoover Is There

BULLETIN
Washington, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Harrison E. Spangler, Iowa's Republican National Committeeman, told newspapermen today he did not expect a "hostile demonstration" from striking farmers when President Hoover goes to Des Moines October 4 for his first campaign speech.

Milo Reno, president of the National Farmers Holiday Association, has announced plans for a parade of 20,000 farmers on President Hoover's arrival in the Iowa City.

In a statement given the press, Reno said that some persons were worried about plans for the parade, to be conducted on the day President Hoover will speak in Des Moines, but, he added, "there is no intention to insult the dignity of the office of the President of the United States."

"We are American citizens," Reno said. "We feel we have the right to publicly protest against an economic situation that is both unthinkable and unwarranted."

He said no attempt would be made to have a conference on the farm situation with the President.

MILK STRIKE EFFECTIVE
Chicago, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Milk strikes in some of America's principal centers, and the threat of such a movement in the nation's metropolis, today gave a more serious aspect to the agricultural war for higher prices which started in Iowa more than a month ago.

Producers throughout a large section of the country awaited with interest developments in New York, where stopping of the flow of milk from upstate to New York City, estimated at nearly 4,000,000 quarts a day, was threatened.

The emergency committee of the New York Milk Shed said it had been informed that producers in New York had decided to strike unless price cutting is stopped by independent wholesalers and the price of milk is stabilized at "a living minimum."

The stabilization plan would give the farmer five cents a quart and a wholesale price of eight cents a quart.

Officials Busy
"We are trying to do everything we can to prevent a strike," said George N. Allen, secretary of the committee, "but the farmers are desperate."

Conferences between Allen and delegations of farmers and negotiations with independent dealers, were being held in an attempt to avert the strike.

Meanwhile milk strikes, already in effect, continued among producers of Ohio, Michigan, Georgia and Nebraska. At Toledo, O., a dairy company obtained an injunction against picketing, public demonstrations and utterances by the farmers' representatives.

The protesting producers, however, kept on picketing stores, without the use of forbidden placards. Approximately 5,000 dairy men ship from the Toledo area which embraces part of CMichigan.

To Further Efforts
Producers at Atlanta, Ga., continued to observe a non-selling edict of their leaders, while in Omaha officials of the Nebraska National Milk Producers' Association worked on plans to make their two-week-old strike effective. By Monday they hope to put 1,000 men "in the field" to ask customers not to patronize two dairies that refused to recognize a price increase decision.

Quiet reigned throughout the middle west in the strike against selling non-perishable produce, such as livestock and grain. Milo Reno, president of the Farmers National Holiday Association, and John Chalmers, president of the Iowa unit of the organization said at Des Moines that the campaign had not gone on long enough to determine accurately the results.

Carload Loadings In Fine Increase

Washington, Sept. 24.—(AP)—The American Railway Association announced today that loadings of revenue freight for the week ended September 17 totaled 587,302, the highest of any week since December 12, 1931.

The total for the week of September 17 was 85,478 cars above the preceding week when loadings were reduced because of Labor Day but was 153,312 cars under the same week in 1931 and 365,259 cars under the same week two years ago.

This was the fifth week out of the last six that car loadings have increased. The week ended September 10 showed a decrease because of Labor Day.

Senator's Wife Is Gravely Ill With Psittacosis

MRS. WM. E. BORAH.

Boise, Ida., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Mrs. William E. Borah grew steadily worse today under the attack of psittacosis or parrot fever from which she has suffered for eight days.

Physicians reported the United States Senator's wife was in a "critical" condition. After a day in which the attending physician's reports were hopeful for the recovery of the U. S. Senator's wife, Dr. Ralph Falk issued a bulletin shortly before midnight saying her condition was "not as good tonight."

"Her heart shows muscular weakness," the bulletin said, "and she has had some rise in temperature."

Meanwhile consignments of serum to check the ravages of the parrot fever were being flown to Boise from Washington, D. C., and Los Angeles.

POLICE GUARD CHICAGO JUDGE FROM ASSASSIN

Intended Bomb Victim Gets Threats On His Life

Chicago, Sept. 24.—(AP)—While the police bombing squad continued its search today for the men whose misdirected bomb injured a young couple near the home of Superior Court Judge John P. McCorty, another detail was accompanying the jurist to and from his court room.

Police furnished the guard after Judge McCorty made known yesterday that he had received several threatening letters. One of them read: "What the bomb failed to do a shotgun will do."

A 24-hour police guard was immediately established over his home and the other detail assigned to accompany him throughout the day.

Meanwhile, police were seeking to link William McDaniels with the bombers. He was identified yesterday by a man and his daughter as one of three persons seen in an automobile near the Judge's home a few minutes before the bombing. They also said McDaniels, in whose possession police reported finding a quantity of dynamite, had been seen in the neighborhood on several different days immediately prior to the bombing.

Time Stands Still For An Hour Sunday

New York, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Time, which under normal circumstances flies, will stand still for an hour at 2 A. M. tomorrow when, according to the Farmers National Holiday Association, what the English call "summer time" and what in America is daylight saving.

In the lighted lane Broadway, which has no bedtime, it will mean 60 additional minutes of gayety—for 2 A. M., is the crescendo hour in the glitter places. But for most of America where daylight saving has been observed, it will mean time's refund of the hour borrowed from sleep in the spring.

When the clocks leaped ahead an hour last April many employers reported that on the following Monday many employees were an hour late, blaming it on the clocks. There was some fear today that the same employees might come to work an hour early next Monday, although most employers declined to worry about it.

GUARDSMEN AT STONINGTON TO BE REINFORCED

Threats Voiced During Last Night Are Reported

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Peace prevailed in the military controlled mine fields of Christian county today. National Guardsmen again manned the dawn patrol of roads leading to the Langleville mine of the Peabody Coal Company and escorted union miners to the diggings.

Other unionists not wishing to work under the new lower wage agreement were kept out of Langleville. There were no congregations such as required tear gas to disperse when the mine reopened yesterday. Officials of the company announced that 361 men reported for work, an increase of 43 for the day.

Troopers and state highway police who conveyed automobiles to the mine said that twice as many came from Tovey and Stonington despite attempts of strikers to intimidate workers at their homes last night.

Threats voiced at eight places on the unlighted streets of Christian county towns were reported to Captain Carl Meeham of Decatur, commanding the Guardsmen. His subordinates said trouble might occur at Stonington tonight. It was decided to police that village more heavily tonight.

INSULT FAILURE WILL BE PROBED BY U. S. SENATE

Chairman Of Banking Committee Promises Investigation

BULLETIN
Chicago, Sept. 24.—(AP)—United States District Attorney Dwight H. Green announced officially today an investigation has been started into affairs of the Insult Utility companies "with a view to determining whether any Federal statutes have been violated."

Chicago, Sept. 24.—(AP)—The crash of Samuel Insult's utility empire, which placed two of his investment trusts in bankruptcy with an estimated loss of 300 million dollars to stockholders, is to come under the scrutiny of the United States Senate.

While State's Attorney John A. Swanson of Cook county was seeking an appropriation of $50,000 yesterday with which to further his probe of the collapse, Senator Peter Norbeck of South Dakota announced the Senate Banking committee, of which he is chairman would undertake an investigation of the financial activities of the Insult enterprises.

The Senator, at his home in Redfield, S. D., said: "Investigations carried on this summer have confirmed my suspicions that much of the Insult stock was sold on misrepresentation and fake reports as to ownership."

The committee's investigation would not be started, however, until after Congress has reassembled, the Senator said.

Stockholders Lose
The Corporation Securities Company and the Insult Utility Investments, Inc. were adjudged bankrupt yesterday by U. S. District Judge Walter C. Lindley after he said, he had become convinced that affairs of the two concerns were in such shape that receivers would be unable to salvage any of the stockholders' $300,000,000 investment.

"There is no chance of reorganization," the court stated in memoranda. "There is no possibility that assets of sufficient character or amount as to bring the stockholders any return whatsoever will ever be realized."

Apparently the most that can be hoped for is a distribution of dividends among creditors.

To Direct Proceedings
Judge Lindley did not appoint a referee in bankruptcy. He plans to direct personally the proceedings so far as time permits.

He called attention to provisions of the bankruptcy act for instituting suits to recover preferences, to set aside transfers, and to determine priority of liens.

The auditors' report of the Corporation Securities Company said sales of worthless stock were found listed in the concern's assets. The only marketable asset found in the company's treasury, they reported, was a $30,000 Chicago School Board tax anticipation warrant.

An audit of the Insult Utility Investments, Inc. made public a week ago, showed a deficit of $226,000,000, including the write-off of capital stock.

DIXON MAN IS BADLY HURT IN 'SILAGE CUTTER

C. B. Swartz Narrowly Escaped Death In Farm Machine

C. B. Swartz of this city was in a critical condition at the Dixon public hospital today, suffering from injuries sustained when he was drawn into an ensilage cutter at Dixon in Nelson township yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock.

At noon today he was reported to be resting comfortably but the attending physician stated that his condition was serious.

The blow pipe of the machine became clogged while one of the big silos was being filled and Mr. Swartz attempted to dislodge the ensilage by shaking the pipe, and in so doing he slipped and fell.

His trousers were caught on a rapidly revolving pulley, which drew his body into the mechanism of the cutting machine. The lower trunk of his body was terribly mangled and torn and he was immediately rushed to the Dixon hospital.

His clothing was partly torn from his body as he was drawn into the machine. Other workmen who were attracted by his cries for assistance, stopped the machine and removed him.

Some Oddities In Wire News Today From Various Parts

FIFTY POOR MICE
Evanston, Ill., Sept. 24.—(AP)—The diet of three little white mice in the Haven elementary school has become the subject of controversy, with Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin joining with those who believe they should have better food.

Specifically Mrs. McLaughlin and the Evanston Anti-Cruelty Society are objecting to an unbalanced diet the rodents are receiving under direction of Mrs. George Crossland, the school's domestic science teacher, who is using the mice to teach her pupils the effect of proper food on health building.

A fourth mouse it getting what's good for it, while its three companions, are being deprived of vegetable matter to show the effects in retarded growth.

The Anti-Cruelty Society passed a resolution condemning the experiment and demanding that it be prohibited by the district school board.

JUST LIKE GANDHI
Chicago, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Like Mahatma Gandhi, Anthony Carlinette has been doing some fasting, but it's not because he doesn't enjoy a tasty meal.

It's because he's been locked up since last Thursday in a drug store, and has already eaten everything edible in the place.

"The crackers were the last to go," he shouted through the door last night. "Now I'm starving. Get somebody to send me some grub. What do they expect me to do, live on water and a pinch of soda like Gandhi?"

A legal drama, in which two claimants are fighting for the right to auction off the physical assets of the drug store, caused Mr. Carlinette's predicament.

He is the representative of an ice cream company which ordered him to remain in the store to make sure nobody moved anything of value. The company claims to have a mortgage on the fixtures.

But the owner of the building obtained a judgment for rent against John P. Lee, who used to operate the drug store, and summoned Constable E. T. Marquardt, who ordered Mr. Carlinette to go away. He refused.

"All right," said the Constable, "stay here. We'll auction you off too on October 3."

Then he turned the lock, but it's not as bad as it seems. The constable said he'd unlock it if anybody came along with a tray of food for the prisoner.

OFFICERS WERE ALL READY FOR CHICAGO BANDITS

Eight Chicago Officers Brought News Of Intended Robbery

A rumor to the effect that one of the Dixon banks was scheduled to be held up and robbed this morning shortly after the opening hour at 9 o'clock, brought a force of more than a score of officers to the business district before daybreak and a close watch was maintained over the institution until after the closing hour this afternoon. The information of the intended holdup was received by Sheriff Fred Richardson at his office at the county jail this morning at 3:30 from Lieutenant Arlie Hoffman of the Chicago detective bureau who came to Dixon with eight officers from his detail, all heavily armed.

While the Chicago detectives assisted county and city officers in a close observation of every person who entered the institution, others were assigned to various vantage points where machine guns, rifle and riot guns were in readiness, should the bandits make their appearance. Five bandits were said to have left Chicago last night at 7 o'clock headed for Dixon, where one of the local banks was to have been robbed this morning shortly after opening for the day's business.

Thirty Officers On Duty
Sheriff Richardson summoned several deputies and Chief J. D. VanBibber had his entire force of city police on hand to assist in the protective program. The Chicago police force and state highway police brought the number of officers to about 30 who were on duty. Information leaked out that one of the banks was under close observation and groups of curious spectators were in the vicinity throughout the day.

Several months ago, a similar report reached Dixon and county officers and bank guards maintained a close watch throughout the day, but the supposed bandit gang failed to appear.

State Officers
Sergeant Oliver Kempster of Sterling, Ill. Roberts and Frank Tyne of this city and members of the Sheriff's force were called into an early morning conference which was held at the Sheriff's office at the county jail and a program outlined to protect the banks from being raided by a gang of professional bank robbers. Officers armed with machine guns, rifles and sawed off shot guns were assembled in three positions which commanded a full view of both banking institutions. In addition, several other officers were stationed at vantage points protecting the banks.

Details of "Tip"
Chief Van Bibber was called in to the conference at 6 o'clock this morning and the services of the police were enlisted in the mass protection of both bank properties. Not less than 30 officers were on duty throughout the morning protecting both banks and a sharp lookout was being maintained for suspicious looking characters who might be loitering about the institutions. Automobiles being city and county officers, heavily armed were stationed in each of the four streets leading from the banks.

According to the "tip", five professional bank robbers, three of whom are said to be liberty under heavy bond, left Chicago last night at 7 o'clock with Dixon as their objective. One of the banks was reported to have received a heavy consignment of currency from the government mint at Washington, D. C., at noon yesterday and in some manner this information had been learned by members of the gang. It was rumored that the bank bandits had planned to enter the institution when the bank opened for the day's business at 9 o'clock this morning, the five robbers driving up in one car, one to remain at the steering wheel with the motor running, another to stand guard at the entrance to the bank and the other three to enter and hold up the employees and secure the large sum of money. Officers of the banks were called into the conference at the county jail at the early morning hour and assisted in outlining the program of protection which continued throughout the day.

During the morning, while the officers were on duty, an unconfirmed report was received in Dixon that the bank at Villa Park had been held up.

A group of residents of the Lee Center school district were present in the circuit court this morning attending a hearing on an injunction proceeding, instituted for the purpose of halting construction on the new high school in that village, which is now well under way. Judge Harry Edwards presided at the hearing and a continuance was granted to allow Attorney H. A. Brooks of this city, who is appearing for the objectors, to file a new bill of complaint. The injunction was secured pending the outcome of quo warranto proceedings which have been pending in the circuit court for some time.

NO WORD FROM JAP AIRPLANE
AMERICA-BOUNDReports of Storms In Behring Sea Add
To Anxiety

Toyko, Sept. 24—(AP)—Tonight passed with no trustworthy news for twelve hours from the Japanese good-will plane in which three aviators are headed for Nome, Alaska and San Francisco.

A radio message reporting that they had passed over Paramushiro Island, northernmost of the Kuriles, was believed erroneous because of a miscalculation by the master of a small steamer which relayed a message from the plane. The last authentic news was from Etorofu where the plane passed shortly after the takeoff.

This afternoon and this evening the Ochishii radio station tried in vain to establish a contact. Weather reports were unacknowledged. That station and the St. Paul station in the Aleutian Islands asked all ships in the North Pacific to be on the lookout.

Anxiety was increased by a report from the American freighter Northland of a violent storm in the Behring Sea.

Victim Of Bandit
Gang Died Today

Chicago, Sept. 24—(AP)—William Walsh, companion of Detective William Kenney in a gun battle with would-be hold-up men, died today of wounds suffered in the encounter. Kenney shot and killed one of the bandits and wounded another. Three others escaped.

SON TELLS DAD NO
Los Angeles, Calif.—Many a sweet romance has been blasted because Father said "No." But here's a father's affair of the heart which seems destined to an unfortunate conclusion because his son just can't see the thing in a sentimental light. The judge forbids Charles Woolpert, 91, Civil War veteran, to marry the lady of his choice, Mrs. Elizabeth Hoaglin, 76, a widow, because Charles' son, William does not approve. It seems that sometime ago the son, with his father's consent, had formally been appointed the latter's guardian.

Deny Skeleton Of Aviators Are Found
St. John, N. F., Sept. 24—(AP)—Denial of a report that skeletons found near Curling, N. F., yesterday might be those of the long missing French trans-Atlantic fliers Capt. Charles Nungesser and Capt. Francis Coll was received in a telegram from Police Sergeant Lee of Curling today.

Nungesser and Coll were lost in an attempt flight from France to the United States in May, 1927. The skeletons were reported found on Blondin, a mountain on the south side of the Bay Islands.

"There is no truth in the report," the telegram from the police Sergeant said, but it added no further explanation.

Lancaster, Wis., Sept. 24—(AP)—Will Keenher, 49, Hickory Grove farmer, was sentenced to life imprisonment in Waupun prison by Judge Sherman E. Smalley when he pleaded guilty to a charge of slaying his 8-year-old son, Martin.

Sentence was passed within 24 hours of Keenher's confession to Sheriff Joe Gerer. He was to be taken to prison immediately by the sheriff.

Three persons testified before Judge Smalley that they believed the child was perfectly normal, and not feeble-minded as the father had contended in explaining to the sheriff his motive for the killing.

HYDE DEFENDED
HOOVER'S WORK
TO AID FARMERS

Shows Agriculture Has Been Given Biggest
Part Gov't. Loans

Mackinaw Delis, Ill., Sept. 24—(AP)—The efforts of President Hoover's administration to aid agriculture were defended by Arthur M. Hyde, Secretary of Agriculture, in an address attended by farmers and politicians of central Illinois.

The Secretary, who spoke yesterday, maintained Federal agencies have lent more money to farmers than the Reconstruction Finance Corporation had lent to "all the banks and railroads in America."

"We frequently hear the charge," he said "that the Hoover administration has millions of money to lend to the banks and railroads and corporations but nothing for the farmers."

As Secretary of Agriculture, Hyde said he had lent $121,620,344 to over 900,000 individual farmers.

"The Intermediate Credit Bank," he said, "had lent $611,138,912. The Federal Land Banks have lent $103,216,000. The Farm Board has lent, exclusive of stabilization operations, $362,312,502. The Finance Corporation has lent $7,044,216 to farm credit organizations. The total is $1,205,332,124 and does not include $125,000,000 put up to strengthen Federal Land Banks so they can give more time to distressed farmers."

Hoover Knows Need
The Secretary said "President Hoover knows as well as you do that what the farmers need above all is a market which will take his products at a price which will enable him to return the cost of production plus a profit. To get that kind of market has been the objective of every act of the administration ever since this cruel depression engulfed the nation."

The Secretary attacked Franklin D. Roosevelt's tariff views and statements on other public question credited to the Democratic presidential nominee.

"Remembering the disastrous consequences of the international agreements negotiated by the Wilson administration which Roosevelt so conspicuously adorned, I shudder to think of the consequences if the Democrats should be turned loose in Europe again."

Len Small, Republican nominee for Governor, and several other nominees for state offices, also spoke at the gathering.

AIDED WORKINGMAN
Lake Compounce, Conn., Sept. 24—(AP)—Secretary Doak today asked the workingman to support President Hoover for re-election on the grounds that Republican tariff and immigration policies were designed and had been administered for the benefit of labor.

Speaking before a meeting of the Third Ward Republican Club of New Britain, the chief of the Department of Labor said:

"Our candidates for office do not have to change their tariff policies every time they cross a state or county line, in order to catch support or to secure votes in campaigns. Neither do we have to seek a catchall word every time a convention meets to describe what our position will be on the tariff question."

He said the Democratic "talk of reciprocal tariff" must mean a reduction in tariff rates, "or the claim of our opponents is inconsistent because the cry is that the present tariff is too high."

Of immigration, Doak said: "The action of President Hoover in September 1930 in issuing instruction against admitting alien workers during the depression has done more toward proper restriction of immigration than all that Congress did any time previously. x x"

CURTIS IN KENTUCKY
Louisville, Ky., Sept. 24—(AP)—Vice President Charles Curtis came to Louisville today to confer with state Republican leaders before continuing his campaign tour in Kentucky.

The Vice-President was scheduled to speak in Danville, Ky., this afternoon, and may attend the Centre College-Murray Teachers football game after the address. He speaks tonight in Lexington, where he opened the Republican national campaign four years ago.

Representative Maurice Thatcher, Republican Senatorial nominee, is accompanying Curtis on his tour. They spoke yesterday afternoon in Bowling Green and last night in Hopkinsville.

Prohibition Agent Was Shot To Death
Tamarack, Minn., Sept. 24—(AP)—James G. Harney, Federal prohibition agent and brother of M. L. Harney, Federal dry law enforcement chief in the Chicago district, was found shot to death near here today.

Harney, attached to northwest district prohibition headquarters in St. Paul, was shot to death, his associates said, while searching for operators of a still he and three agents had found.

The other three in the party said they last saw him alive yesterday afternoon. Search for him was underway all night and today.

First Casualty Of Football Season
Anniston, Ala., Sept. 24—(AP)—The first football casualty of the season in Alabama was recorded yesterday with the death of Foster Stewart, 19-year-old Gaston high school player at Alexandria, ten miles north of here.

The youth was taken from the game in the first quarter and walked from the field, apparently normal. A few minutes later he toppled over unconscious. He died before the could be removed from the field.

Physicians said apparently the boy suffered from heart trouble.

GIVE ME SLEEP

GIVE me sleep
In the dreamless dusk and
Of the centuries.
To the crumbled etchings
Of the past,
I go down in the ultimate darkness
Between the known and the unknown.
In fathomless,
From which the perfecting
Timeless fingers of life's passion
Shall lift youth and beauty.

Reach deep. Time, excavator of all,
I will sleep well.
Nothing is lost to you
Who lift the dusk
And dust of centuries.
In each strange beauty of dawn
To eyes that wait in world-weariness.
For a sleep without dreams.

Don't Forget Milk For the Adults, Too

The modern adult diet is too often lacking in milk. This makes it necessary for the homemaker to devise particular ways and means to use milk in the daily dietary.

Luncheon is an ideal time to introduce milk into the menu. A dish of this type usually precludes a meat dish and furnishes just the right touch of heartiness. Cream soups, vegetables au gratin, creamed vegetables on toast and scalloped vegetables all lend themselves to luncheon menus.

If the adult members of a family are not at home for the noon meal, the dinner should be planned to make use of an extra amount of milk. Less meat is needed when milk is used generously. There is no question that milk provides the best protein known to nature, so the housewife who uses a maximum of milk and a very small amount of meat need not feel that she is depriving her family of any essential food factor. The vegetable served scalloped or au gratin is of much greater food value than the one simply served with salt and butter and is suitable to serve when the meat course is light.

Minimum Allowance
Bread made with milk is a means of adding milk to the diet. Skimmed milk can be used to advantage in bread making.

Desserts made with milk, such as custards, junkets, cornstarch puddings or "blanc manes," rice puddings and tapioca puddings, are also desirable. There is no question that milk provides the best protein known to nature, so the housewife who uses a maximum of milk and a very small amount of meat need not feel that she is depriving her family of any essential food factor. The vegetable served scalloped or au gratin is of much greater food value than the one simply served with salt and butter and is suitable to serve when the meat course is light.

It is generally agreed that one-half pint of milk a day is the minimum allowance for an adult diet. One full pint is considered the proper amount to insure health and vigor when the normal meat allowance is provided. And when the meat allowance is less than one fourth pound per day per person the milk allowance should be increased up to a quart.

Milk is such a cheap source of protein and calcium, as well as a fairly economical source of phosphorus, that since the vitamin consider the vitamins as something "thrown in" for good measure when we purchase milk for our families. Milk contains a small amount of iron, but since its iron is especially good and easily assimilated by the system, it is worth considering.

Much Interest In the Beautiful Quilt Display at Penney's

Women in Dixon and vicinity have for the past few weeks been interested in the beautiful display of quilts at the J. C. Penney store, where the colorful exhibit and the fine needlework have caused much favorable comment.

The judges for the exhibit were Mrs. George Schultz, Mrs. Medrie Hussey and Mrs. J. W. Cover, all of Franklin Grove and all adepts in the art of quilt making.

The three best quilts were judged on a basis of design, color harmony, neatness of handwork and quilting. The first prize was an applique bouquet—Mrs. J. B. Burd, Dixon. The second prize went to Mrs. Charters of Ashton, a piece of flower garden. The third prize went to Kenneth Cleaver of Oregon, cross stitch and embroidered. The fourth prize went to Mrs. Noble May, whose quilt contains 50,509 patches. The fifth prize for the oldest quilt went to Miss Eleanor Powell whose quilt is estimated to be 150 or 200 years old. Honorable mention in this class goes to Mrs. Frank Manahan, and Mrs. Wayne Williams.

In the Coverlid Class, an honorable mention is awarded to a Log Cabin pattern coverlid which is 200 years old, and was entered by Mrs. Marjorie Ransom, Dixon. Honorable mention is awarded to Mrs. F. Bovey in this same class for a silk crazy-patch coverlid.

In the Applique Quilts, the following deserve honorable mention: Paris Rose pattern, 91-year-old, Mrs. A. L. Huffman, Dixon; Fern pattern, Mrs. J. E. Garner; Rose of Sharon, Mrs. J. E. Garner.

Mrs. Mary C. Whitney's costume, which contrasted a light top with a dark skirt, caught the holiday spirit at Belmont Park.

Mrs. J. Averill Clark wore a white scarf to set off the woven pattern of her sports frock at Futurity Day at Belmont Park.

Sharon, Esther Young, Dixon. Honorable mention for a Cross-Stitch Embroidered Quilt is made to Miss Winifred Breckinrider, Franklin Grove, Ill.

Two Romances on Rocks, Hollywood

Los Angeles, Sept. 24.—(AP)—The call of the trouper was blameworthy today for one of Hollywood's latest broken romances, that of Vivian Duncan, portrayer of the role of Eva in the stage and screen version of "Topsy and Eva," and her husband, Nils Asther, Swedish-born film actor.

Announcement Miss Duncan and Asther separated 10 days ago was followed by revelation of a domestic split between Greta Nissen, blonde screen actress, and Weldon Heyburn, actor and former Alhambra and George Washington University athlete, because they don't see things "in the same light."

Miss Duncan's attorney said divorce proceedings probably will be started by the actress. She married Asther secretly in Reno, Nevada, in August, 1930. They later went to Europe where their daughter, Evelyn, was born.

"They like different things," C. O. Bacon, Miss Duncan's attorney stated. "She is a trouper by nature. She loves to go places and do things."

B. L. Irving, attorney for the Swedish actor, added:

"Mr. Asther is just the opposite. He is almost a recluse."

Miss Nissen explained her split with Heyburn, whose real name is Weidman H. Franks, as follows:

"We found after six months of sincere effort to make a go of married life that we did not regard things in the same light."

Attends Recent Meeting of C. R. W. Club

Mrs. C. R. Walgreen has returned from Chicago where she attended a meeting of the C. R. W. Club which is composed of young women connected with the Walgreen organization. Sixty members of the club were recently entertained at Hazelwood. Many moving pictures were taken at that time. At the meeting in Chicago Tuesday evening one of the most interesting features was the showing of the movies.

The club met in one of the downtown Walgreen stores, where they enjoyed themselves with cards, guessing games and delicious refreshments." Mrs. Walgreen was made an honorary member of the club.

IF
By HELEN WELSHIMER

If I knew you hurried—
That you were afraid
I might overtake you,
I should be wistful
By each passing fiddler
Spilling gipsy tunes;
Every park with benches,
All the nights with moons.

If I knew you waited
Lonely down some lane,
No tall hill could stop me,
No dark blowing rain,
No dark blowing rain,
Sailing any sea,
If I could be certain,
That you wanted me!

FIGURES PROVE SMALL CERTAIN TO BEAT HORNER.

In a front-page story the Woodstock Daily Sentinel recently published the following summaries concerning the Republican and Democratic primaries of last April, particularly the races for the gubernatorial nominations. The article is headed "Some Interesting Facts About the Illinois Primary Election Last April," and indicates mathematically, with figures based on the primary returns, that Len Small, the Republican nominee for governor, is an overwhelming favorite to defeat his Democratic opponent in the election on Nov. 8. It reads:

"Republicans should not be misled by the Democratic misinformation that has been current recently, in which the latter are trying to infer that there was a great Democratic landslide in the April primaries of 1932.

"DO YOU KNOW that there were over 500,000 more Republicans that voted in the primaries than Democrats?"

"DO YOU KNOW that the Republicans received 70.88 per cent of the votes cast outside of Cook county?"

"DO YOU KNOW that there were 53,000 more Republican votes than Democratic votes in Cook county?"

"DO YOU KNOW that the Democrats received only 29.12 per cent of the vote cast outside Cook county in the primaries?"

"DO YOU KNOW that Henry Horner, who was the Democratic organization candidate, received only 80,123 votes out of a possible 1,066,880 votes cast outside of Cook county?"

"DO YOU KNOW that this was only 7.52 per cent of the total votes cast outside of Cook county?"

"DO YOU KNOW that Len Small received 3 1/2 times as many votes as Horner received outside of Cook county?"

"DO YOU KNOW that the Republicans had five major candidates in the race, while the Democrats had only three?"

"DO YOU KNOW that Henry Horner was the Democratic candidate and was supported by the majority of the Democratic organizations, and that these state organizations helped finance his campaign?"

"DO YOU KNOW that Len Small's downstate campaign was carried on through his friends, without the help of any political organization or financial aid?"

"DO YOU KNOW that Len Small's plurality was 84,461 votes over that of Henry Horner in the state, despite the fact that the Democrats had only three major candidates while the Republicans had five?"

"DO YOU KNOW that the Republicans received 62.20 per cent of the total votes cast in the entire state?"

"DO YOU KNOW that the Democrats received only 37.80 per cent of the total votes cast in the entire state?"

"DO YOU KNOW that Horner barely received 25 per cent of the total downstate Democratic votes; that is to say, that 75 per cent of downstate Democratic voters voted against Horner in the primaries?"

BUILDING POINTS THE WAY.

A survey and forecast for the building industry in the United States during the next year, just completed by the magazine, American Architect, indicates that the great building trades are about to emerge from the depression. The survey shows, for instance, that fully $1,750,000,000 is going to be spent during the next 12 months on new building projects and on modernization work.

"The beginning of the recovery period is here," says the magazine. "Building activity begins its steady, though slow, upward swing during the fall of 1932."

If this survey is correct, it is extremely good news. There can be no real revival without a pickup in the building industry; and, conversely, if the building industry revives, it can be expected to carry other industries up with it.

CHICAGO'S DIVIDED BATTLEFRONT.

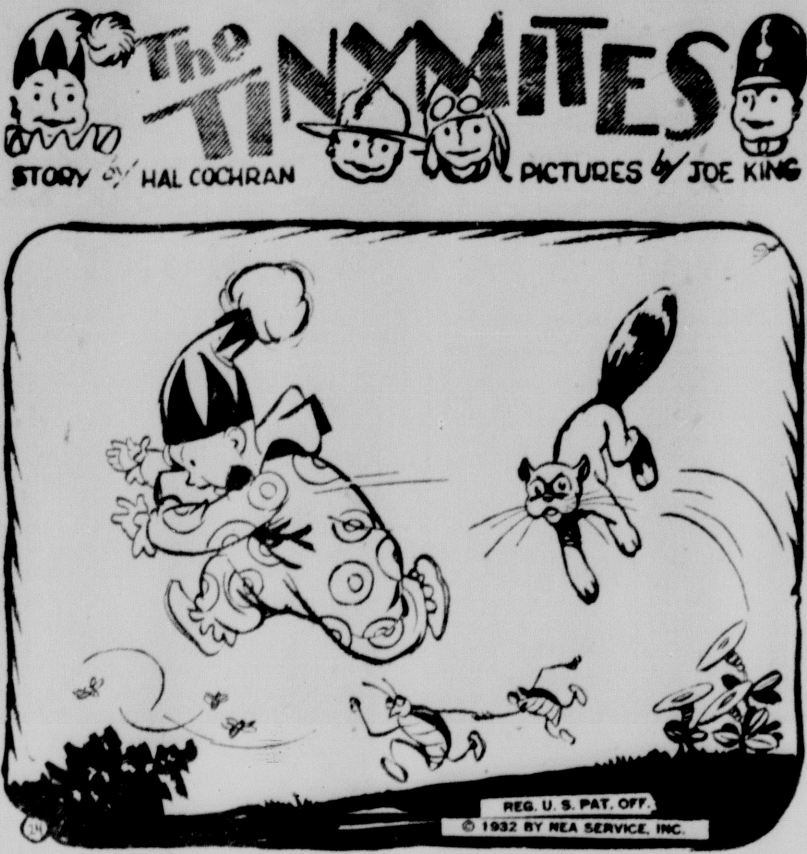

There is something ludicrous in the disclosure that one set of detectives has been spying on another set of detectives in Chicago, but after all it is hardly a laughing matter.

Doubtless you read that operatives of Chicago's famed "Secret Six" recently trapped operatives of State's Attorney Swanson's office in the act of tapping their telephone wires. Then followed argument back and forth between these two crime-detecting agencies, which appear to be at swords' points.

Perhaps this explains a lot. Perhaps Chicago's reputation for crime wouldn't be as bad as it now is, if the city's crime-fighting agencies would stop fighting each other and put up a united front against the criminals.

All the people know we are under fire. Unless we stop that storm which is growing we will see the day when men run for office on the boast of "stop the veteran." — Sam Reynolds, Nebraska leader of American Legion.

I do not feel I ought to send any man to jail at this time when the sentiment of the country is that if the (prohibition) law was a mistake, if not worse. — Judge Eugene Bonniwell, Philadelphia.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The tiny lioness grew mad 'cause Scouty painted it. It had big spots all over its body and you couldn't blame the beast.

Then Duncy grabbed it by the tail and, my, but it let out a wail. "Hey, don't do that," cried Coppy. "We should treat it nice, at least."

"Why, sure we should," snapped Windy. "Gee, it's just as cute as it can be. Let's rub the paint off right away. It looks an awful mess."

"I wonder, though, how we can get the spots off when the paint's still wet. We're going to have a lot of work before we're through, I guess."

And then the heard the zoo man roar. "Gee, whiz, what are you laughing for?" asked Scouty, and the zoo man said, "I've played a trick on you."

"These spots will easily rub out. You thought that you used paint, no doubt, but it was merely berry juice." The lads then laughed, too.

The zoo man soon said, "I will get some water and I'll gladly let you scrub the little animal. It won't take very long."

The lads had a lot of fun and soon the scrubbing task was done. "We're through with you, Miss Lioness," said Coppy. "Run along!"

"Well, well," cried Duncy, "look at that!" He pointed to a little cat that came up for a drink of milk. "I'll bet it is a pet."

The cat began to take a drink and Duncy shortly said, "I think I'll make friends with the fellow. What a petting it will get."

He stroked the cat a little bit and then it seemed to throw a fit. It jumped right up toward Duncy and he was a frightened child.

"You'd better run," the zoo man cried, "or you'll have scratches on your hide. You teased the cat while it was eating. That's what made it wild."

A New Era of Banking Co-operation

The strength of the United States banking system today rests upon the shoulders of the thousands of able, honest bankers whose faithfulness to their public trust has been demonstrated beyond question.

The record of loyal service by bankers shows few exceptions. Banking standards of management have been raised to a new high level as a result of the experiences of the past two and one-half years.

New legislation, stricter supervision and a deeper appreciation of mutual interests, give promise of a new era in the relations of banks and their depositors.

These, among other things, are statements of General Peyton C. March in "The Nation at War," a book in which he recounts his experiences as America's war-time chief of staff.

It is, of course, utterly impossible to summarize the book in the space available here. While General March is plain-spoken about Pershing for instance, he is not spiteful or petty and he leaves the Commander of the A. E. F. with plenty of laurels; and he makes no effort to destroy any reputation or write any kind of "expose."

What he does is to give an exceedingly interesting account of the war in which America's army was organized, sent overseas, supplied and directed, and at the end he leaves you feeling that the job was uncommonly well done.

General Leonard Wood was not allowed to go to France because Pershing said flatly that he wouldn't have him, and because the War Department felt that he had a tendency to be insubordin-

FOUR IN ROW TOO MUCH FOR MACK'S OUTFIT

Athletics Did The Next Best Thing By Taking Second Post

By GAYLE TALBOT

Associated Press Sports Writer.

Four straight pennants proved too big an assignment for the Philadelphia Athletics, but Connie Mack's great team has done the next best thing by nailing down second place in the American League.

Needing only one victory over Washington to clinch the "almost" honors, the A's went out and got it by pounding three Senator pitchers for an 8 to 4 win yesterday.

In an effort to keep their chances alive, the Nationals sent Monte Weaver, brilliant rookie with 22 victories to his credit, against the Athletics, but he was slammed from the box in the fourth inning.

The champions Yankees, meantime, uncovered a world series pitching prospect in Walter Brown, the big right-hander who won his third straight victory, shutting out the Boston Red Sox, 3 to 0, with seven hits.

Stars Not "Right"

With Gomez and Ruffing looking far from "right" in this crucial series, Manager Joe McCarthy probably gained no little comfort from Brown's latest performance. On the other hand, Babe Ruth, the famous convalescent, failed to get anything resembling a hit in three attempts and that is bad.

The Detroit Tigers worked St. Louis over twice, 6 to 2 and 12 to 0, Earl Whitehill letting the Browns down with three hits in the nightcap. Cleveland won a weird contest from the Chicago White Sox, 13 to 6. Five pitchers worked for the Sox, including Manager Lou Fieser.

McFadden did better than his regular hurlers, at that, allowing not a hit in the one inning he was on the hill.

Paul Waner, slugging Pittsburgh outfielder, set a new National League record by punching his 60th and 61st doubles as the Pirates lost to St. Louis, 8 to 4, in the only National League engagement.

The former record of 59 two-baggers belonged to Chuck Klein of the Phillies.

WORLD SERIES CLOSEUPS

WOODY ENGLISH

Woody English, called Elwood only by his mother, is out to redeem himself in the world series. The pleasant Cub third baseman had a big chance in the 1929 series, but, in 21 times at bat during the five games played, he hit for the humiliating average of .190.

The boy from Grandville, O., is going along pretty fair this year, though hitting several points below his .319 average of last year. But he'll probably catch the "inspiration" the Cubs are supposed to have and do himself justice.

Sandlots gave English to baseball. He began playing around his home town when he was 11, and still had the job of milking his grandfather's cows.

At 18 he got a job with Toledo, and, though he only hit .220 that year—1923—his sensational fielding kept him on. His second year found him not only fielding better, but hitting around .300. That was good enough for the Cubs, and they bought him in 1927.

Woody started out as a second baseman, but was developed into a shortstop at Toledo and Chicago. In 1930, however, Woody was again switched, and was given the hot corner. Since then he's been the regular third baseman.

Thin and small compared to other Cub players, English has to rely on his speed and clever fielding. His batting average this year hovered around .270, which ranked

CUBS HAVE GOOD REASONS TO PLACE FAITH IN THEIR "BIG FOUR" RIGHT-HANDED PITCHERS

Bush, Warneke, Root and Malone Seem To Be In Better Shape Than Yankee's Box Staff

By ALAN GOULD

Associated Press Sports Writer

New York, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Bartering the rare individual exploits of a Pepper Martin or the dominant slugging of a robust Babe Ruth, pitching generally figures to have a 60 per cent influence in deciding baseball's world championship battle.

Otherwise, in the inter-league struggle that starts next Wednesday in the Yankee Stadium, it's a wide open question whether the great right-handed corps of the Chicago Cubs can curb the left-handed Yankee sluggers or whether the more versatile sharp-shooting staff of the American League champions will prevail.

Despite their lack of an efficient southpaw, the Cubs have every reason to place confidence in the quartet of starboard flingers consisting of Guy Bush, Charley Root, Lon Warneke and Pat Malone. They probably will rotate in that order against the Yankees.

Warneke, the pitching sensation of 1932 as a freshman, is the only one unimpaired to world series pressure. Root and Malone, it is true, were caught in the hurricane of hits at Shibe Park but they still rank among the toughest to beat in any company. Bush appears to be in the best form of his career.

Two Yanks Veterans

The only Yankee twirlers with previous world series experience of note are George Pipgras, the somewhat erratic right hander, and Herb Pennock, slender portside veteran who has never been defeated in series competition, but neither is likely to see a great deal of service.

The hopes of Marsee Joe McCarthy's forces will be pinned on three series newcomers, big Charley Ruffing, a righthanded power-house; Vernon Gomez, the brilliant Spanish southpaw; and Johnny Allen, strong young right hander. The probabilities are they will work in that order, with Pipgras pitching the fourth game.

Pennock, always a great "money pitcher" may have another great series performance left in his system but he is getting along toward the end of the trail, just as is the veteran snitballer of the Cubs, Burleigh Grimes. A big hero of the 1931 victory of the Cardinals, Grimes again has been threatened with appendicitis. He is not likely to see the world series action. Were both "right", it would be worth going miles to see Grimes and Pennock in a duel of master craftsmen.

Freshmen In "Natural"

One of the "naturals" in prospect is a tussle between the two freshmen stars, Warneke and Allen. Under the present schedule they may start the third game, Oct. 1, in Chicago.

BILLY HERMAN

Fifty thousand dollars came out of the Wrigley pocket for Billy Herman, Cub second baseman, but it seems that Bill was worth all that after all.

Leading the league's second basemen in batting with .310, Billy also is topping the heap in the number of doubles—42. Besides that, he is one of the sweetest fielders in the league. Billy's share in bringing the Cubs to the top looks like it's worth every dollar of that price.

Billy was born in New Albany, Ind., 23 years ago, and got to playing with one of those home town kid teams. He was one of several to journey to Louisville, Ky., in 1927 for the national American Legion tourney. His team won, the boy got a free trip to the series at Pittsburgh and a contract with the Louisville Colonels.

That team farmed him out to Vicksburg, Miss. In his first 14 games he collected two dinky hits and had visions of a pick and shovel with some laboring gang. But he stuck on during 1928 and was recalled by Louisville to finish out the season with them.

The following year he prepared at Dayton and was again recalled by the Colonels to wind up the last 23 games on the schedule. In 1930 he was a regular with Louisville.

The Cubs looking for an understudy for Hornsby, brought Herman up last year. In 25 games he whacked the ball for a .327 average, and fielded .939.

Hornsby Files His Claim For The Cash

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 24.—(AP)—

Rogers Hornsby, deposed manager of the Chicago Cubs, today announced he had written a letter of protest to Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis against the action of Chicago players in leaving him out of the world series money.

What Averages Of Big Leagues Show This Week

New York, Sept. 24.—(AP)—With the major league season due to end tomorrow, two league records have fallen, two marks for both major circuits are in danger and one of the batting races for an individual crown remains in grave doubt.

The Philadelphia Athletics, led by Jimmie Fox, have clouted 170 home runs so far, passing the American League mark of 158 set by the New York Yankees a few years ago and just one short of the Chicago Cubs' league mark. Fox raised his total to 56 homers, just short of Babe Ruth's major league mark.

Paul Waner of the Pittsburgh Pirates smashed a National League mark by clouting 61 doubles, two over the record set by Chuck Klein of the Phillies two years ago.

The steady hitting of Dale Alexander of the Boston Red Sox gave him a one-point advantage over Fox this week in the battle for the American League championship.

Well behind the leading pair in the American League, other "first ten" hitters were Gehrig, New York, .347; Ruth, New York, .334; Philadelphia, .326; Combs, New York, .324; Walker, Detroit, .323; Ferrell, St. Louis, .321; and Jolley, Boston, .319.

Frank O'Doul of Brooklyn tops the National League at .367, a wide margin over Klein, who was second with .352. Behind him came Terry, New York, .350; Hurst, Philadelphia, .344; P. Waner, Pittsburgh, .340; V. Davis, Philadelphia, .339; L. Waner, Pittsburgh, .332; Tarnor, Pittsburgh, .330; Herman, Cincinnati, .329; and Stephenson, Chicago, .327.

The pitching leaders of the two leagues held their places with only one victory and one defeat among four of them. Johnny Allen of New York was the winner, holding the American League lead with 17 victories and three defeats while Bob Brown of Boston, second in the National, lost his seventh against 14 victories. The 22 and 6 record of Lonnie Warneke of Chicago held good for the National League lead, and Vernon Gomez 24-7 mark for second in the American.

JOHNNY RISKO PICKS WALKER TO DEFEAT MAX

While J. Dempsey Believes German Will Be The Victor

New York, Sept. 24.—(AP)—

There have been probably a million separate and distinct predictions made on the outcome of Monday night's 15-round fray between Max Schmeling and Mickey Walker, but the prize of the lot comes from Johnny Risko, the "rubber man" from Cleveland, who has fought both of them.

Schmeling, early in his American campaign, met Risko at Madison Square Garden and knocked the veteran kicking in the ninth round.

The victory rocketed the German to stardom.

Three months ago Risko took on Walker at Cleveland and gave the Toy Bulldog at trimming in 12 rounds. At least, Risko received the decision.

So Risko now picks Walker to give the former heavyweight champion an artistic beating in the forthcoming brawl in the junkyard bowl, says Risko.

"Walker will give Schmeling the mis-hit," The German boy is a good fighter, but he will get a real licking this time, Mickey knows too much about dealing out body punishment.

Jack Dempsey, on the other hand, has gone on record for Schmeling.

Motorists seldom stop to think that about three-fourths of their fuel is delivered free to them in a never ending supply, as they drive along the highway. Air is about one-fifth oxygen, and it is through the union of this with the carbon and hydrogen of the gas line that furnishes the power-giving heat.

SLOW RECOVERY IN TRADE THIS WEEK IS SHOWN

Mercantile Reviews Of Leading Houses Are Encouraging

New York, Sept. 24.—(AP)—The weekly mercantile reviews today said that seasonal recovery in retail and wholesale trade had been sustained this week.

Bradstreet's weekly reported the general opinion in its comments from 55 leading cities was "that business is slowly beginning a fundamental recovery."

"That this recovery can only be slow is generally realized; there are still complicated problems for which no satisfactory solutions have been found. But the marked trend away from abject despair and towards a sober but confident attitude is highly encouraging."

Although retail trade in general is indicated as spotty, said the review, fall goods have met a fairly good demand, especially in department stores. Wholesaling and light manufacturing lines are seasonably busy, although collections have not yet shown marked improvement.

"The general movement toward increased business activity," stated Dun's, "has experienced no reverse, although there was a general leveling of gains this week, with volume spreading in some directions."

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—Those sharing the belief that politics is a grim and "vulgar" business should direct their attention to that blue-stocking area of Long Island where young Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney is running for a seat in Congress.

An old campaign is being waged there between "Sonny" and the equally socially prominent Representative Bacon—a campaign that seems to belie all the traditions of office-getting.

From Flushing to Montauk Point the social registries are in a stir. The "Vanderbilt" in Whitney's name, although no longer used except for legal and formal purposes, is having its effect even though the district is one of the deepest-dyed of Republican strongholds.

The select social country is divided against themselves and the vast country estates are at variance which candidate to support.

The Nelson Boy Scouts motored to Sterling Wednesday evening where they attended the scout while the Sagamore Hill Roosevelts—the distant cousins of the Democratic nominee—are for Bacon. That's how complicated things are.

DISTRICT DIVIDED—

"Sonny" opened his campaign recently at the home of Mrs. Charles Sabin. Mr. Sabin is a Democrat. Mrs. Sabin, who is supporting Roosevelt for president, is a Republican, and is behind Bacon in the Congressional race.

That's how divided the whole district seems. But at that "Sonny" hasn't entirely forgotten the practical side of running for office. While he has made it plain that he will not stage parades with flying banners to get votes, he does plan what he calls a "Whitney caravan" to tour the district.

He had Al Smith come down from New York to open his campaign at the Sabin home. And to appeal to those in the district who may not play polo or boast of their names in the social register, he distributes campaign literature which sets forth that he:

"Lived for four months in a mining camp, standing from an ordinary underground pick-and-shovel miner and finally becoming assistant to the foreman of the mine."

STAN BALL, an agent for cattle interests, faces ASPER DELO in his office. Asper is accused of killing men sent to check his timbering activities at Three Rivers. Ball announces he is making a personal check. Delo says he will personally see that he does not make the check.

Leaving the office, Stan saves a girl from kidnappers. She proves to be DONA DELO, Asper's daughter. When Stan learns her name he tells her he is STANLEY BLACK and slips away.

DUDLEY WINTERS, in love with Dona, agrees to go to Three Rivers and bring Asper back. Dona goes with him and at a little ranch place on the way Dudley puts a plan of marriage to Dona, hoping she will take this plan of getting Asper Delo to return. She agrees but holds back when Stan Ball, on his way to Three Rivers, steps out of the night and kisses her.

At Three Rivers they meet SWERGIN, Asper's timber boss, and he says he is ready to kill Ball, that Ball shot a ranger.

Dona decides to ride in the hunt for Ball. She catches a bad horse and has to try to ride him to keep up her pride.

Dona rides the roan. Swergin tells her she must not ride without a guard as Ball is a killer and is at large. She slips away and rides toward Pass Creek where she has been told not to go.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER X

PASS CREEK canyon led down on the south side of Folly Mountain. A rugged rim divided the creek country from the timber lands of the Delo Timber Company. None of the pine or spruce had been cut in the canyon and the trail was narrow, leading in and around great trees and close under frowning walls. Dona pushed the big roan as fast as he could travel with safety.

The canyon widened into a meadow and she could see a mile ahead. The roan lifted his head and snorted. Dona scanned the trail with alert eyes. Close to the edge of the timber a rider was skirting the open meadow. Dona touched the roan with her spurs. The rider was her father. Her mount leaped ahead but before she could enter the open Asper had vanished into the timber at the far side of the meadow. Dona thundered across the open grass land eager to catch up with him.

The going was rough now but the roan took it with the sure-footed ease of a cow horse. He swerved and his powerful forelegs struck out like flashing streaks of light as he dodged around grass hummocks and spring spots.

Suddenly the roan leaped sideways and tossed up his head. Dona cast a fletting glance at the ridge above. She fancied she saw a flash of black in the higher timber parallel to her course. It made cold chills run up her spine and she bent to pull the carbine from beneath her stirrup flap.

Beyond the shoulder of rock she caught a second glimpse of black. This time she was sure it was a black horse galloping along the rim above. Its rider seemed to be crouching low over the neck of his mount and urging the horse on.

PANIC gripped her. It was plain that the man above was not concerned with her at that instant. He was aiming his horse to head off her father. Dona strained her eyes to catch a glimpse of Asper but the dense growth held him in its green fastness. She sank her spurs into the roan's flanks and he responded with his last ounce of speed.

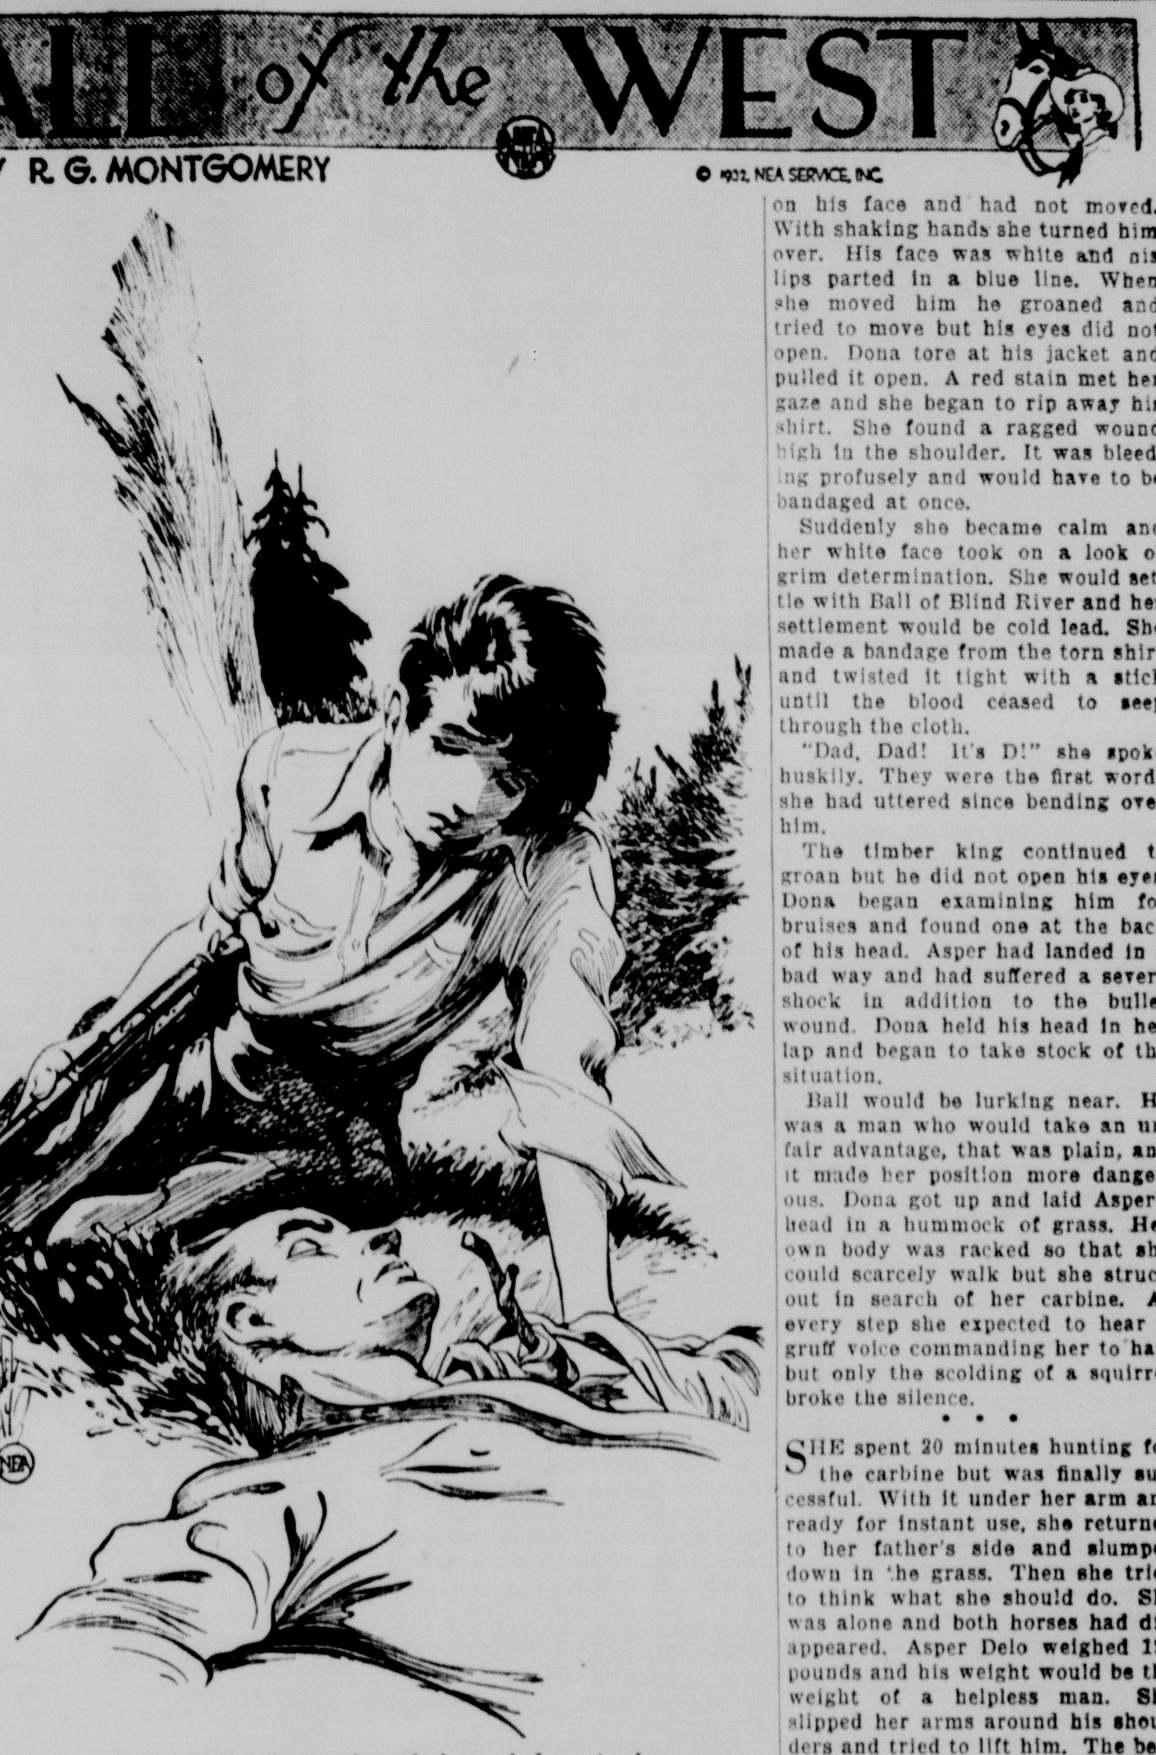

Crashing through the brush Dona pulled her horse up with cruel sharpness. She could see her father ahead in the open. Facing him was a cowboy on a black horse. Both men had swung broadside and were pulling their rifles free. It was plain

William Carroll of Pekin called at the Walter Thompson home Thursday between trains.

Arnie Zanger of Rockford returned to his home after spending several days with Mr. and Mrs. Chris Zanger.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ramsey and son Gordon of Dixon were callers at the Walter Thompson home Sunday.

She returned to her father's side and slumped down in the grass.

that they intended to shoot it out. The man on the black had all the advantage for he had ridden out prepared to shoot while Asper Delo had been taken by surprise. Asper was struggling with his gun which seemed to have caught in the trap plugs of the saddle.

Dona forced the roan to a dead stop and her carbine flashed up. The roan saw it and plunged. Here was something she had overlooked. She had failed to try her horse with a rifle. The roan was certainly gun-shy and panicky. Some one had carelessly fired close to his head and had ruined him. Dona struggled to swing her rifle around and bring it down upon the black horse. The shot was a long one but she had to take a chance. Then the roan cut loose and began bucking. With grim anger Dona let the rifle rattle to the ground and reached for the saddle horn. She fought the roan savagely and without giving him a chance. This was no time for showmanship. This was a desperate stand with her father's life at stake.

A rifle cracked and Dona caught a jarring glimpse of her father as he pitched from his horse. A second shot sent his mount staggering away, evidently wounded. Dona saw the black horse rear up and strike choked her throat. Asper had fallen on his face and had not moved. With shaking hands she turned him over. His face was white and his lips parted in a blue line. When she moved him he groaned and tried to move but his eyes did not open. Dona tore at his jacket and pulled it open. A red stain met her gaze and she began to rip away his shirt. She found a ragged wound high in the shoulder. It was bleeding profusely and would have to be bandaged at once.

Suddenly she became calm and her white face took on a look of grim determination. She would settle with Ball of Blind River and her settlement would be cold lead. She made a bandage from the torn shirt and twisted it tight with a stick until the blood ceased to seep through the cloth.

"Dad, Dad! It's D!" she spoke huskily. They were the first words she had uttered since bending over him.

The timber king continued to groan but he did not open his eyes. Dona began examining him for bruises and found one at the back of his head. Asper had landed in a bad way and had suffered a severe shock in addition to the bullet wound. Dona held his head in her lap and began to take stock of the situation.

Ball would be lurking near. He was a man who would take an unfair advantage, that was plain, and it made her position more dangerous. Dona got up and laid Asper's head in a hummock of grass. Her own body was racked so that she could scarcely walk but she struck out in search of her carbine. At every step she expected to hear a gruff voice commanding her to halt but only the scolding of a squirrel broke the silence.

SHE spent 20 minutes hunting for the carbine but was finally successful. With it under her arm and ready for instant use, she returned to her father's side and slumped down in the grass. Then she tried to think what she should do. She was alone and both horses had disappeared. Asper Delo weighed 150 pounds and his weight would be the weight of a helpless man. She slipped her arms around his shoulders and tried to lift him. The best she could do was to raise him from the ground.

To carry him was impossible and she cast about for another plan. Rising, she tried to walk to high ground in hope of sighting one of the horses. She stumbled along, feeling very small and weak. On a high knoll she halted and surveyed the trail up the canyon. There was no trace of a horse as far as she could see. Slowly she retraced her steps. She did not dare leave her father for long. He might regain consciousness for an instant and she wanted to be at his side if he did. She had a clutching fear that he might only be conscious once.

The sun had already left the meadow in the canyon and the air was beginning to chill. Dona sat in her pockets for a maul. She found none and began to search in her father's clothes while he continued to groan and seemed to be straining to move. Not a single match did her search reveal and Dona came to the despairing realization that he had packed his match box with his cigar case in a saddle pocket.

With night coming on and a cold chill settling on the high country she sat there helpless beside the form of her father. Big tears welled in her eyes and she felt her courage deserting her.

CERMAK POWER BEHIND HORNER SAYS STRANSKY

Cites Figures Indicating that Chicago Mayor's
Judge's Boss

Franklin J. Stransky, Chairman of the Illinois Republican State Central Committee, made the following statement today:

"The ludicrous efforts of the Democratic nominee for Governor, Henry Horner, to deny that he is bossed and controlled by Tony (Percent) Cermak are driving him deeper into the sea of embarrassment as the campaign progresses.

"The minor partner in Cermak Politics, (un-limited) must be careful not to offend the big boss, who is rather touchy and jealous of his kingship, but at the same time Horner would like to make some folks, particularly downstate, believe that he is running for governor under his own power.

"In the light of facts he is having a difficult time. Horner ran a poor third in the Democratic primary downstate, receiving only 80,000 votes. The farther he got from Cermak influence, the poorer his vote was, without exception anywhere.

"By the sheer strength of his position as absolute dictator in Chicago and Cook county, Cermak was able to overcome the bad showing downstate and nominate Horner by delivering to him in Chicago. The greater Cermak's power territorially, the greater was Horner's vote.

"The 24th ward is a good example of Tony's operations in places where his power is great. That ward is bossed and controlled by Moe Rosenberg, prime minister at the City Hall and minister-designate, with portfolio. If Cermak can annex all of Illinois to his personal domain on November 8th, by placing Horner in the Governor's chair at Springfield.

"A total of 15,996 votes were recorded in the Democratic primary in the 24th (Moe Rosenberg's ward) last April. Horner was given 15,614 of them. Igoe, second man, received 241 votes and Campbell, the downstate leader, got 17 which Moe and Tony over-looked.

"What do those figures mean, Mr. Horner? Do they mean that Tony and Moe forced your nomination onto the Democratic party or if there is some other explanation, what is it?

Political High- lights of Week Over the Nation

By BYRON PRINCE

Washington, Sept. 24—(AP)—Another week of Democratic activity and Republican preparation has brought the major outline of the political campaign into somewhat clearer relief, although certain important elements of the picture still are shadowy and uncertain.

A large section of the country now has seen Governor Roosevelt in action on the stump, as he expressed at length his views on agriculture, railroads, power, the tariff and other topics.

On the Republican side, plans for a later drive for votes have taken definite shape after long conference. President Hoover is to open his campaign at Des Moines on October 4, with a speech devoted to various issues, and to follow it up with two other principal addresses.

The week likewise has seen the last of the 1932 state primaries, including an upset of the LaFollette leadership in Wisconsin. State tickets now are complete except in a small handful of cases, where nominations are to be made later by convention; and all along the line, in presidential, state and congressional contests, all parties have come to the final stage of organized campaigning.

It still is in doubt just what the central pattern of that campaigning will be. Both Roosevelt and Hoover have said that economic recovery was the prime issue of the campaign, but that is a broad subject, embracing many sub-divisions. As the prohibition and anti-prohibition organizations go into action it is increasingly certain that the dry laws will be much debated, particularly in the congressional contests.

Two outstanding figures of the campaign of 1928 still clothe their 1932 intentions in silence, but predictions are heard among the well-informed that neither Alfred E. Smith nor William E. Borah will let the campaign end without having his say.

Some of Smith's friends believe he will definitely declare his position when the New York Democratic state convention meets during the first week of October, just as Governor Roosevelt returns from his trip to the west coast.

There reports have made the convention the focus of extraordinary expectations.

The rumors about Borah are not so detailed. He remains at his home in Idaho, saying something now and then about issues in which he is particularly interested, but declaring his support for no one. He did say weeks ago he could not support Mr. Hoover on the prohibition plank adopted by the Republicans at Chicago.

Those who know him best, however, can not envisage him permanently in the role of a recluse.

While all of these weighty matters shape up in the two great parties, the most active campaigner of them all is neither a Democrat nor a Republican but Norman Thomas, the Socialist nominee for President. He is off on a speaking swing which probably will give more voters than ever before in history an opportunity to hear and see the candidate of a smaller party.

MEASURING GROWTH

The importance of growth measurement is well appreciated by almost everyone, for the rate and extent of growth is a rough but useful measuring rod with which to determine the health and development rate of the growing child.

Unfortunately, however, up until recent times we have not had very dependable standards.

The "height, weight and age" tables, established by measuring a large number of so-called normal individuals and then averaging the results, have not proved very dependable.

Weight, according to these tables, is merely total mass and does not reveal its distribution.

It gives us no information whether the individual has well developed limbs, nor the shape or volume of his chest, nor does it tell us how any new added weight has been distributed.

Growth has two aspects — external and internal.

The external aspect is represented by the total size or volume of the individual. The internal aspect reflects the relative measurements of the various vital organs and of the various parts of the body.

Applying Archimedes' ancient principle that the volume of water displaced by a submerged body is equal to the volume of that body, Dr. D. E. Zook has developed an ingenious apparatus which measures not only the volume of the body as a whole, but also of its various parts.

Thus, we can determine the volume of the body as a whole as well as that of, say, the lower limbs or the chest.

In this way it is possible to compare and to record not only the sum total progress of the growing child, but also where the lag in development has been, and where the progress.

This method for determining the progress of growth and development ment will give us a more complete picture of normal progress.
